BBA in Marketing Management

Major in Marketing

More than any other business discipline, Marketing deals with customers. Indeed, the heart of Marketing is building relationships with customers. Anyone involved with any facet of Marketing is concerned with providing customers with value and satisfaction. The concern is always with managing and improving the current customer relationships and developing new relationships. This is accomplished by learning about and understanding customer needs and, in turn, developing products and services that respond to these needs while, at the same time, providing superior value.

The Department of Marketing offers a wide variety of courses to meet the specific career orientations of students interested in any facet of the marketing process.
